Hitler's Gilded Entry To Rome Like Caesar

Welcome Will Resemble Great Warrior Returning Triumphant From War—$20,000,000 Spent in Elaboration of City

By CHARLES D. RAVOTTO
Special British United Press Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

ROME, May 2.—No Caesar returning triumphantly from the wars ever received such an ostentatious welcome as that prepared for Reichfuhrer Adolf Hitler. He arrives in Rome tomorrow night. Ever since the announcement of the visit was made official early in February, thousands of workmen have been busily engaged in getting the elaborate preparations ready for the Fuehrer's visit to the capital.

The Latin people's sense of hospitality is legendary. In addition they have a debt to pay. They have not forgotten the tremendous if surprising welcome given to Premier Benito Mussolini in Berlin last September.

The only way to wipe out this debt is to give Hitler an even more resounding welcome. It is said the government spent about $20,000,000 to make the visit as spectacular as possible.

On Hitler's arrival, the city will be a dazzling spectacle of color and flame. Thousands of alternating lights will line the Via dei Fori Imperiali, the main boulevard leading to the Quirinal, his residence in Rome. This welcome will serve to demonstrate to a still sceptical world the reported plans of the Fuehrer to visit the British Isles.

During his stay here, Hitler will not have a dull moment. The high spot of the Roman program will be the military parade along Via dei Fori Imperiali, the most prestigious street in Italy.

Also on the program are aerial manoeuvres at the Furbara aerodrome, 15 miles south of Rome, and the parade of the Italian army and navy at the Quirinal, his residence in Rome.

There was everywhere the threat of last-minute preparation to make the welcome to the German leader tomorrow night the greatest in the history of the city.

Persons of questionable record were jailed or ordered from Rome, Florence and Naples, and official estimates fixed the number of troops at between 6,000 and 7,000.

All Adorned For Welcome To Nazi Chief

Adolf Hitler, the Austrian house painter who climbed the ladder of success and power to become the supreme ruler of Germany, will realize an ancient dream today. He will be greeted by King Emmanuel and Queen Helena, of Italy, during his visit to Rome to return to Hitler's trip to Berlin last year. Anniversaries of Austria and future foreign policies will most likely be the chief topic of dinner conversation. During his visit he will stay at the Quirinal Palace, former home of Crown Prince Humbert, top, which despite its shabby appearance outside is magnificently appointed inside. One of the elaborate reception rooms of the palace is shown, bottom.

Rehabilitation of Street Railway's System Planned

Complete Change-Over of Equipment and Elimination of Trackage, Expenditure Of $1,500,000 Suggested in Report

Ten-year rehabilitation program for the Edmonton street railway system at a cost of $1,500,000, including abolition of tracks and operation of trolley buses on all routes within the next 15 years, is proposed in a report prepared for consideration by city council Tuesday night.

DRYEST SPRING IN 150 YEARS MAY HALT WAR

The voluminous and comprehensive report was completed over the weekend by the Hon. J. D. Wilson, Toronto consulting engineer and traffic expert, following a two-week survey of the street railway system.

Mr. Wilson, partner in the firm of Wilson and Hunter, proposes an average expenditure on capital costs of $150,000 a year to meet the program's requirements.

He recommends that capital costs be paid out of the street railway's annual earnings, and that the fare tariff be increased from the existing five-cent fare to six cents.

He also suggests that the fare tariff be increased from the existing five-cent fare to six cents.

By CARL REINER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 2.—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, of Ontario, today declared the government's emphatic opposition to any enlargement of the power of Canada's federal government. of existing provincial rights. "Delicately, we are not here to barter away functions which we have not the resources, not here to trade off the charges we are sworn to preserve," he asserted.

BUDGETARY IMPOSITIONS ON THE PROVINCES

Equality between the provinces he held impossible. Living standards as well as general economic conditions varied so widely he considered it advisable for the provinces to administer their own economic affairs. Federal aid, he provided by broader provincial taxation and prior provincial approval, the federal government stepping in "only when the provincial needs have been satisfied."

LACK OF ECONOMY

"During your investigations, sir," he said, "I have found that the 'social services' have come largely through lack of national economy that insured a wide distribution of the proceeds of productive effort."

"The state is largely responsible. The state will pay its bills. It should be the policy for the profitable employment of the great mass of its citizens. The government should be the economy under which one family out of every 10 lives on credit. The state cannot survive unless it does not live to survive."

"As we adapt ourselves to the economic change of the times and still preserve self-government," he said, "we must think of ourselves as a federal union of provinces, not as a collection of provinces, each with its own government, each with its own power, each with its own responsibility."

CAN BE PROSPEROUS

"The premier believes that with the exercise of prudent economic policy, the people of the provinces can be prosperous and still preserve their political independence."

The system, $347,100, track rehabilitation, $45,000, removing abandoned rails and overhead, $22,800, paving track allowances, $17,000, highway, $17,000, terminals, $137,000, total, $1,419,000.

ANNUAL EXPENSE
Estimated expenditure for each year in the ten-year program follows: 1938, $41,000; 1939, $167,000; 1940, $137,000; 1941, $80,000; 1942, $60,000; 1943, $77,000; 1944, $60,000; 1945, $134,000; 1946, $207,000; 1947, $181,000; 1948, $172,000.

Summary of findings and recommendations as contained in Mr. Wilson's report follows:

1. Street cars everywhere are a declining industry due in part to the use of private motor cars. On this account an average increase of traffic on the street railway in 1937 of 125,000 passengers per year is not likely to be maintained, but 100,000 in 1950 when a fleet of 10,000 cars is anticipated.

2. Street railway has since 1926 failed to pay dividends. The full cost of $347,000 is required for the rehabilitation of track and additional equipment to the present fleet, representing additional investment of $725,000, and this is the other form of investment, in a manner cheaper and profitable service in Edmonton.

3. It is recommended that no further extension of the street railway be made, except minor changes as may be required, and that the street railway be kept at its present size.

Wanted Publicity—And Got It!

These tracks are suppressed at the end of 15 years from now.

It is estimated that such ten-year program can be carried on by the expenditure on capital account of $150,000 per annum. The total cost of the program, including the cost of track maintenance, and the charges of operation of new street cars, is estimated at $1,419,000. After paying interest and sinking fund on present debt, adequate surplus will be earned, at present rates.

It is recommended that a pay-advance policy be adopted, and that all capital costs be paid out of earnings, by increasing the basic fare five for 20 cents to four for 25 cents, such change in fare being calculated to yield 17 1/2 per cent additional revenue, adequate with the surplus from operation to meet all capital costs of extensive if made at a uniform rate.

ORDER OF CHANGE
Reporting on the abandonment of track and accompanying changes in routing, Mr. Wilson states: On the assumption that street cars will be gradually suppressed and trolley buses be purchased to replace them, the following would appear about the most advantageous order in which the changes should be made:

1. The first change would be the suppression of the street cars on the High Level bridge, the blue line continuing along Jasper to 112 street.

2. The second change would be the suppression of the street cars on the High Level bridge, the blue line continuing along Jasper to 112 street.

20 VOYAGERS BRUSH DEATH PITCORN ISLE

Sailors Nursed After Near-Poisoning by Descendants of Mutineers

GLOUCESTER, Mass., May 2.—Loaded with curies and tales of adventure, the 20 voyagers of the schooner Yankee, a former Dutch pilot boat, sailed into this fishing port Sunday morning, after a 35,000-mile cruise of the world.

Smiling and happy after their voyage, the voyagers stood about their brush with death near Pitcorn Island, where they had been held for 10 days by the descendants of the mutineers.

The captain, Irving Johnson, said virtually all of the 20 persons aboard were poisoned seriously after eating fish they had just caught 100 miles from Pitcorn Island, a year. The Yankee managed to make the island without any casualties, and the sailors returned to the mainland while visiting descendants of the mutineers.

REPAID KINDNESS
The Yankee travelers repaid kindness of the Pitcorn Islanders by giving them a gift of $100,000 from another island.

On the visit to the Galapagos Islands, the voyagers were met by the sailors of the Galapagos, who had been held for 10 days by the descendants of the mutineers.

State Control of Marriages in Britain Is Predicted by Physician

PROSPECT OF UNFIT PEOPLE IS DECLARED

Studies Of Personal and Family Health and Heredity Advised

LONDON, May 2.—State control of all marriages in Great Britain within the next 25 years is predicted by Sir Vaughan Thomas, prominent physician. In a speech here he said:

"The state interferes with the liberty of a vital human being. There is no study that the consequences of ill-matched marriages are equally damaging, thus furthering and almost impossible to estimate."

"We are confronted not only with a drifting but also with a fixed fact, but with the prospect of a population in which the drift will outnumber the fix."

Sir Vaughan recommended independence of some form of state authority for marriage, including an investigation of the personal and family health of the contracting parties.

He also suggested intensive study of human heredity; more general education of children in the science of life, with special reference to heredity; some form of economic encouragement towards raising a fit family.

BUG EATS BUG FOR CANADA'S PEST RIDDING

Experts Seek to Save Country $15,000,000 Yearly By Education

By MURIEL ADAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 2.—Unlikely quantities of insects are being used to produce microbe to furnish biological control of pest insects. For example, a small, harmless insect is being used to control the pest of the cottonwood, the European spruce sawfly. World's insects are valued at $15,000,000.

Competitors with man for the ownership of life, these pests, 600,000 kinds of which have been identified in the laboratories, are causing greater damage to the country now than in any period in past history.

GRAY DESTROYERS

Grasshoppers, cutworms and wire worms destroy from five to 20 per cent of the crops grown by farmers in the middle west. Insect damage to forests equals that done by fire. Millions of dollars worth of fur, cottons and silk are eaten by the insects. Millions of dollars worth of fur, cottons and silk are eaten by the insects.

Latest damage to insect is demand the concentration of entomologists in the European area. In the United States, the insecticide part of the United States is raising vast areas of spruce forests to become infested and die, hindering greatly production of pulp and paper.

Most From WITHOUT

Came of the destructive insects in their native countries. Insects are of foreign origin and are controlled by parasites in their native countries.

The idea of introducing parasites into Canada is to effect the so-called balance of nature—to establish the parasites in sections of Canada in the hope it will ultimately control the destructive species.

These parasites have proved a boon to entomologists in their studies to rid the country of pest-making pests. More than 40,000,000 parasites are reared yearly in the laboratories at Belleville, Ont., and distributed to various sections of Canada. Experiments are being added to the laboratories and it is reported that 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 parasites will be available to carry on the nation-wide fight this year.

Deceptive in size, the tiniest pinhead beetles cause the most damage to the maple trees in the forests. The flagworms, moth or butterfly reared the small amount of damage done to plants by its beauty to the countryside.

The wandering albatross measures 14 feet from wing tip to wing tip.

OTTAWA, May 2.—Unlikely quantities of insects are being used to produce microbe to furnish biological control of pest insects. For example, a small, harmless insect is being used to control the pest of the cottonwood, the European spruce sawfly. World's insects are valued at $15,000,000.

Competitors with man for the ownership of life, these pests, 600,000 kinds of which have been identified in the laboratories, are causing greater damage to the country now than in any period in past history.

GRAY DESTROYERS

Grasshoppers, cutworms and wire worms destroy from five to 20 per cent of the crops grown by farmers in the middle west. Insect damage to forests equals that done by fire. Millions of dollars worth of fur, cottons and silk are eaten by the insects. Millions of dollars worth of fur, cottons and silk are eaten by the insects.

Latest damage to insect is demand the concentration of entomologists in the European area. In the United States, the insecticide part of the United States is raising vast areas of spruce forests to become infested and die, hindering greatly production of pulp and paper.

Most From WITHOUT

Came of the destructive insects in their native countries. Insects are of foreign origin and are controlled by parasites in their native countries.

The idea of introducing parasites into Canada is to effect the so-called balance of nature—to establish the parasites in sections of Canada in the hope it will ultimately control the destructive species.

These parasites have proved a boon to entomologists in their studies to rid the country of pest-making pests. More than 40,000,000 parasites are reared yearly in the laboratories at Belleville, Ont., and distributed to various sections of Canada. Experiments are being added to the laboratories and it is reported that 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 parasites will be available to carry on the nation-wide fight this year.

Deceptive in size, the tiniest pinhead beetles cause the most damage to the maple trees in the forests. The flagworms, moth or butterfly reared the small amount of damage done to plants by its beauty to the countryside.

The wandering albatross measures 14 feet from wing tip to wing tip.
